

Dear friends and colleagues,

At the start of the new season, we would like to welcome you back from the holidays with a fresh issue of ELIAMEP Times. In this month's newsletter, you will find information on the new research projects launched by ELIAMEP recently, as well as reports on events, presentations of our latest publications, interesting updates from our blog section and much more. Seeing this promising start as just the beginning of an even more productive new academic year, we wish you a pleasant reading and look forward to your feedback!
