

Now available from Ashgate Publishing...

The Dynamics of Black Sea Subregionalism

Panagiota Manoli, University of the Aegean, Greece

'This book is by far the most complete and comprehensive presentation to date of the origins, evolution, current state of affairs and actors involved in the process that is shaping the identity of the Black Sea regionalism.' – from the Foreword by Ambassador Sergiu Celac

'Panagiota Manoli's dedication to, and insight on, issues pertaining to Black Sea regionalism have long been acknowledged by policy-makers and academics alike. As Europe struggles with renewed introspection, this book is a potent reminder that Europe's most daunting challenges in a fast-changing world are still very close to home.'

– Fabrizio Tassinari, Danish Institute for International Studies; and author of Why Europe Fears its Neighbors

'For too long, scholars of regional dynamics have lacked a study of the Black Sea sub region. We now have such a volume thanks to the excellent scholarship of Panagiota Manoli. Systematic in its empirical coverage, attentive to key theoretical debates and insightful in its conclusions, this impressive book shows why the Black Sea case is important to both wider discussions about regionalism and deeper understanding of the importance of European integration.' – Ben Rosamond, University of Copenhagen, Denmark

'Panagiota Manoli has provided us with a detailed analysis of the changing geopolitics of the Black Sea, and offers key pointers about the future of regional cooperation in this strategically vital arena.'

– Ian O. Lesser, The German Marshall Fund of the United States

Representing a new development in the study of contemporary regionalism, Panagiota Manoli examines the process of institutionalized sub-regional cooperation and casts new light on the factors influencing the reconfiguration of sub-regional structures in the Black Sea region. Contributing to the conceptualization of the subregional phenomenon, this book should be read by scholars and policy-makers alike unclear on how local elements interface with extra-regional forces in the shaping of a subregion.

Contents: Foreword, Sergiu Celac; Preface; Introduction; Subregionalism: some conceptual considerations; Institutions, processes and policies; The birth and evolution of the Black Sea economic cooperation; Joining hands across the sea: national preferences and leadership gap; Rivalry, conflict and potential cooperation; Reconfiguring subregionalism: the impact of the EU; Conclusion; Bibliography; Index.
Includes 2 b&w illustrations

Sample pages for published titles are available to view online at: www.ashgate.com

To order, please visit: www.ashgate.com

All online orders receive a discount

Alternatively, contact our distributor:

Bookpoint Ltd, Ashgate Publishing Direct Sales,
130 Milton Park, Abingdon, Oxon, OX14 4SB, UK
Tel: +44 (0)1235 827730 Fax: +44 (0)1235 400454
Email: ashgate@bookpoint.co.uk

March 2012

270 pages

Hardback

978-0-7546-7991-2

£60.00

www.ashgate.com/

isbn/9780754679912

ASHGATE
www.ashgate.com