

Invitation

The Hellenic Foundation for European and Foreign Policy (ELIAMEP) is organizing an online public discussion on:

"Covid-19 and the labor market: Impacts, reactions and policy challenges"

The event is organised in the context of the research project "Youth Employment and Gender Equality: Mobilizing human capital for sustainable growth in Greece", funded by the EEA Grants. The discussion will focus on Greece and the Nordic countries (with an emphasis on Norway), but will also highlight broader changes and challenges to labor markets precipitated by the ongoing pandemic.

Welcoming remarks:

Stein Gjendem, Deputy Head of Mission, Royal Norwegian Embassy

Speakers:

Kristin Alsos, Research Director, Fafo Research Foundation, Norway

Daphne Nicolitsas, Scientific Advisor, ELIAMEP; Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, University of Crete

Commentators:

Michael G. Argyrou, Chairman, Council of Economic Advisors (CEA), Hellenic Ministry of Finance

Roger Bjørnstad, Chief Economist, the Norwegian Confederation of Trade Unions (LO)

Mariliza Xenogiannakopoulou, MP, SYRIZA, Hellenic Parliament

The discussion will be moderated by Dimitris Katsikas, "Stavros Costopoulos" Senior Research Fellow and Head, Greek and European Economy Observatory, ELIAMEP; Assistant Professor, University of Athens.

The event will be held in English on Wednesday, 23 June 2021, at 16:00 - 17:30 (EEST)/ 15:00-16:30 (CET)
and live streaming will be available on the ELIAMEP website
